DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In particular, the language of "as a binder 1 to 99 weight %" is vague because it is not clear what this language refers to. Hence, the metes and bounds for which patent protection is being sought are not clear.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Keller 2002/0007900A1 or Gassner 6,027,608 each in view of Kean et al, 5,491,186, for reasons of record.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed April 1, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants argue that Keller and Gassner do not mention the insulation performance capability of a feathered fiber composition.

Art Unit: 1774

In this concern, applicants' claims are not limited to any specific insulation performance standards. The fact that Keller and Gassner teach that their products can be used as insulation clearly suggests that these products have insulation capabilities.

Applicants argue that Kean does not mention the use of a natural feathered fiber.

In this regard, Kean is relied upon for all that he would have reasonably imparted to the skilled artisan at the time the invention was made, namely, that it is known in the art to use sheath/core binder fibers in the formation of insulation products.

Applicants argue that the Declaration demonstrates that the natural feathered fiber insulator exhibits the insulation performance capability, which is significantly superior to that of the insulation batt of Kean.

In this concern, the Declaration has not been considered because it is incomplete. Only page 1 has been received. Nevertheless, it is the combined teachings of Kean and Gassner or Kean and Keller that clearly suggest a natural feathered insulator of the type set forth by applicants.

Applicants have not clearly identified that which they regard as their invention.

No claims are allowed.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
